National Curriculum Objectives Explained (Writing Purpose & Genre)

Build on knowledge of language features related to writing purpose, see Year 1 long-term overview	Autumn 1	Autumn 2	Spring 1	Spring 2	Summer 1	Summer 2
Writing to Entertain Language Choices	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Writers usually select and stay in the same (consistent) tense to avoid confusing the reader – usually simple present or simple past tense 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Use of sound and other senses to develop clear picture for reader to develop mood (show not tell) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Speech bubbles let characters talk and this shows the reader more about the character – what they are thinking, feeling or doing The present progressive and past progressive tense is often used to indicate that something is or was happening when another event occurred at the same time
Writing to Inform Language Choices	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Some information (such as instructions) needs to be in the correct time (chronological) order if the reader needs to follow clear steps or learn about something that happened in the past 		<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Diagrams show the reader more details about the important parts of what they are finding out about When we provide information to our reader, this information is usually in the simple present tense or simple past tense
Genre Features	Narrative: Stories usually have a main character and the reader needs to understand what happens to them. Sentences go in order of what happened in a story so that the reader can follow more easily – this is the plot of the story. Introduce idea of rise-fall story shape for basic narrative structure. Instructions: Use easy to follow, simple steps or sentences for the reader to understand – these might be numbered. Written in time (or chronological) order so that the reader acts in the correct sequence or order. Sometimes includes a list of 'things/ ingredients/ items' that the reader will need before acting upon the instructions.	Letter: Sender's address in top-right corner & Date under the sender's address. Recipient's address on left-hand side. Start with 'Dear...' or 'To whom it may concern...'. Sign off with 'From...' or 'Love from...' (depending on how well you know your reader). Poetry: A genre of poetry is list poetry, which lists words or phrases that represent a certain topic.	Traditional tale: Will often include repeated phrases. May include animal characters that behave like humans (e.g. can talk). Character names will often tell the reader more about their appearance or traits (e.g. The Big Bad Wolf). Usually include happy endings. NCR: Captions and labels to add information to illustrations. Glossary to provide definitions in a quick and easy guide for the reader.	Narrative: Build upon Aut1 objectives & story shapes - slow rise and slow fall. Poetry: A specific poetic device used by poets can include a simile: this compares something with something else that the reader can relate to, in order to create a clear picture in their mind.	Narrative: Link to Aut & Spr objectives. Instructions: Link to Aut1 objectives & build to include: In order to tell the reader to do something, writers often use command sentences. Recount: Written in simple past tense. Events are recounted in the time order that they happened.	Narrative: Link to Aut & Spr objectives. Poetry: A specific poetic device used by poets can include alliteration to experiment with using words that start with the same speech sound – this creates a pleasing rhythm and musicality for the reader.

National Curriculum Objectives Explained (Sentence, Word & Punctuation)

	Autumn 1	Autumn 2	Spring 1	Spring 2	Summer 1	Summer 2
Sentence	Writers join sentences together with other coordinating conjunctions including and, or, but – these conjunctions all carry different meanings for the reader to understand how the ideas are connected	Including adjectives to describe a noun (expanded noun phrases) helps the reader to create a more specific picture in their mind Instead of using 'and' too often, we should use a full stop so that the sentence does not become too long for the reader Writers can also join sentences together with subordinating conjunctions including when, if, that, because – these conjunctions are different to others because when we put them at the start of an idea it does not feel like a complete thought A statement is a type of sentence that are used by writers the most – they are telling the reader something	Coordinating conjunctions including and, or, but – these conjunctions all carry different meanings for the reader to understand how the ideas are connected. Subordinating conjunctions including when, if, that, because – these conjunctions are different to others because when we put them at the start of an idea it does not feel like a complete thought Exclamatory sentences are sometimes seen in fairytales, usually to express a surprise or strong emotion (usually starting with 'What / How + noun phrase + verb)	Including adjectives to describe a noun (expanded noun phrases) helps the reader to create a more specific picture in their mind The present progressive and past progressive tense is often used to indicate that something is or was happening when another event occurred at the same time.	Including adjectives to describe a noun (expanded noun phrases) helps the reader to create a more specific picture in their mind Review use of conjunctions to combine ideas and sentences The present progressive and past progressive tense is often used to indicate that something is or was happening when another event occurred at the same time Sometimes we might need to tell our reader to do something – these are command sentences and they start with a verb Review use of conjunctions to combine ideas and sentences
Word level Inc. punctuation	A reader needs a full stop at the end and capital letter at the beginning of each sentence so that they know where one idea ends and another begins	An exclamation mark at the end of a sentence (instead of a full stop) helps the reader to know that this shows a stronger positive or negative feeling Instead of a full stop, a question mark at the end of a sentence shows the reader that they will need to read the sentence differently because either the reader or a character (in a story) is being asked something Commas can be used to separate items in a list, so that the reader can identify each separate item more clearly with a short pause in between	Commas can be used to separate items in a list, so that the reader can identify each separate item more clearly with a short pause in between (Review use of question mark & exclamation mark) Apostrophes are used to show the reader when words have been combined and letters have been taken out (apostrophes of omission) – this punctuation mark makes it clearer for the reader to understand	Apostrophes are also used to show the reader when something belongs to a person or object (apostrophes of possession) – this punctuation mark makes it clearer for the reader to understand Review use of question mark & exclamation mark)	Apostrophes are also used to show the reader when something belongs to a person or object (apostrophes of possession) – this punctuation mark makes it clearer for the reader to understand Commas can be used to separate items in a list, so that the reader can identify each separate item more clearly with a short pause in between (Review use of question mark & exclamation mark)	Including adverbs to describe a verb also helps the reader to create a picture in their mind about how the action is happening (Review use of all punctuation taught throughout the year)
