Suggested Activities

To develop an understanding of the artist Hokusai – who he was and where he was from. Familiarise with the works of Hokusai – focus on “The Great Wave”

To sketch own version of the painting “The Great Wave”. Children to sketch their own interpretation of the artwork to use as a plan to create their sculpture from.

To experiment with different tools and materials – children to spend some time using clay and clay tools to investigate how they can make different shapes/textures/joins with the material

To create sculpture from a sketch

To decorate sculpture – children to consider colour choices and how they could add texture with different colours and brush strokes

Curriculum links

Science – properties of materials

Misconceptions

Children do not always make the link between 2 dimensional plans and 3d sculpture; the relationship between two dimensional shapes and three dimensional forms needs to be taught

This will lead to . . .

Year 6 Benin sculptures – embedding skills of adding texture and joins using clay and decoration
